AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

We are glad to see that the inhabitants of Prince Albert and its neighborhood, have started a District Agricultural Society, under the heading of "Lorne," to which District we belong. This name will not seem a misnomer when we look to the report of His Excellency, the Marquis of Lorne, ex Governor General of Canada, in which he remarked about the flowers and vegetable gardens appertaining to many of our settlers' residences here. In the town of course this is recognizable, but when it comes that such an incident be mentioned in the report of the District by the highest Government official in Canada, we must, or certainly ought, to take some credit to ourselves. It is to the farmers in the vicinity to whom we call attention, to the advertisement in another column, and as we are speaking in the name of the "Lorne Agricultural Society," we speak principally the good will of the farmers in the District, whose past word is well-known through the North West, namely, "You help me Jack and I will help you," thus showing the mutual support that they expect to get from one another, and which they will get if they put their shoulders to the wheel, and thus joining the Society which is for the mutual benefit of all in the District. It would be as well to state briefly the principal objects that this Society has in view, in fact we may say besides universal co-operation, the only objects it wishes to attain, and these are as follows:—1. Improvement in the stock of our District; 2. The introduction of new and different varieties of seeds; and 3. To hold out that grain that is of marketable value be completed in a severely under-estimated price. In conclusion we can only in the name of the Society ask for the help of the many whose interests must be benefited, if they will only give it a serious thought.

PHARISAIICAL CAN'T

The other day in England the mistress of a Wesleyan School dismissed two girls because their father was an actor, and one of the children sometimes played at the theatre; thus we have again another example of narrow and bigoted ideas which many people have inherited. In the Sister country, Presbyterian thought is he to the very core, it has been kept back by bigotry and an ecclesiastical yoke, which now it is only beginning to tire of. Such splitting of hairs about ecclesiastical proclivities, denouncing organs, haranguing against hysons, and persecuting those who are promoting intellectual enjoyments for the people are too well known, but that we have amongst us here, people who object to such an innocent evening as we spent last Saturday must create some surprise. The word theatre and its belongings in any way connected, is to them a rock of destruction whether the performances be given by professionals or amateurs. In a word we deny that the theatre is an immoral place taken as a whole, and that there are many men and women, all honorable people, on the stage, cannot be questioned. That there were any evil, sin or iniquity, in the performance at the dramatic entertainment on Saturday night last, we defy all the straight laced, bigoted old women from here to Hoop up to point out. A performance without a vulgar word, or evil suggestion implied, acted by our own town's people of irreproachable character and highest respectability, and yet there are people in our midst, who object to such enjoyable and intellectual evenings being spent by the public. Probably they will be appraised if next time the dramatic society calls it a "concert," for they believe in a name, and they will take it better than "dramatic." To such people a glass of whiskey and water is a vulgar indulgence, but a few drops of chloral or a little chloroform seems so much less odious; the one is drink, the other is not, though all the same it is more deadly. We have no room for such crutchy people here and would advise them to pack up and

"fit" to whence they came, believing they are imported and matured and born considerably after the times. Certain are we that pharisaical nonsense will not go down in Prince Albert.

NEW COURT HOUSE

Our contractors are busy with plans and specifications and preparing schedules of quantities to enable them to figure on the cost. Looking at the plans the fourth enormous when erected will have a very effective and handsome appearance. It consists of two stories and a basement, part of the latter to be laid with stone pavement, where the prisoners' cells are to be. The main building is 92 by 81 ft. with a court room 40 by 35 ft., height of ceiling from floor 22 ft. The roof is to be covered with galvanized iron slates, which will be a great protection against fire. The whole is estimated to cost about $60,000, and work is to commence immediately the tenders are accepted. We trust the worthy firm of Moore & Macdonald may secure the contract, or that some other local contractor may be successful, as we would not like to see it fall into stranger's hands. What with the buildings in course of erection, the new mill for the H. B. Co., and the new court house on the topis, things are beginning to look booming for us this summer.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY

The 24th was kept in time-honored style by the loyal people of Prince Albert. Hopes for the day was suspended, and the town assumed a holiday aspect. Flags waved from all the principal buildings, and the steamers on the river were gaily decorated with bunting. The day was fine, and although a trifle warm, yet the most fashionable had little to grumble about. Throughout the entire day the interest in the proceedings was kept up with unflagging spirit and enthusiasm, and everything passed off without a hitch or any unpleasant incident to mar the enjoyment. At six o'clock in the morning the inhabitants were awakened by the strains of the Queen's Anthem, played by the City Band, which also dispersed some appropriate selections before dispersing. By nine o'clock the roads approaching the town were alive with buggies, hackboards, wagons and full passengers, some for the day's fun and enjoyment. The streets were early crowded, and presented a busy and animated scene. The storekeepers had to open their doors for a time to enable country customers to look orders. Here paternal families contented and happy, with his sweet wife and regiment of little ones; there the smiling youth and blushing maiden strolling hand in hand, "For happiness an' innocence together eye man lie." Old and young, large and small, stout and slim, for one day lay persons have the way.

"With dance and song, or friends among,
We banish hoary sorrow,
And whilst to-day we do not and play,
We'll gladly look to-morrow."

The first item on the programme for the day was a cricket match between the Mission and Argyle elections. The Mission went to the stumps first, and after the Argyle had completed their first innings, the stumps were drawn for the purpose of allowing the players an opportunity of witnessing the Caladonian games, which had been commenced by this time. As play was not again resumed that day, the match was decided a draw.

Promptly at 11 o'clock a.m. the Caladonian games were begun, which were under the auspices of the St. Andrew Society. The arena grounds were carried out in a most efficient manner by the committee, who were early active making preparations. Suitable grounds had been selected near the Presbyterian church and a grand stand erected, which during the day was filled with the hon ton of the district. Several refreshment booths were on the ground for supplying the want of the inner man, and a stand for the band, in which they played throughout the day excellent music to an appreciative public. The sports were contested by eager yet friendly competitors, and great credit is due to the St. Andrew Society for the able manner in which they carried out the programme.

So passed a "red day" in the annals of Prince Albert, of which our visitors must have taken with them a pleasurable recollection of a holiday well spent. One gentleman, indeed, expressed his astonishment that Prince Albert had such men, such women, such grit and such talent, and believed no city west of Winnipeg could produce the like in athletes, actors, actresses and musicians. It is not for us to boast, but we are glad to hear our visitors think so much of us, and that our town may in this or other things strive to be "second to none."

The Kingston Lodge of Freemasons met next Wednesday evening.

Who was the man who beat his way into the reserved seats on Saturday night? Certainly he is no gentleman.

The gentleman who on Wednesday at the cricket match played in a pair of riding pants and moccasins, is we believe still alive.

Mr. P. Macdonald left for Troy last Tuesday with the following passengers: Messrs. R. Gray, G. Atkinson and N. Mackenzie.

Mr. and Mrs. Betts are shortly going east. Mrs. Betts goes to Pictou, Ont., to visit her mother, whom we are sorry to hear is seriously indisposed.

The York boat for O. E. Hughes & Co. is rapidly nearing completion, and another is on the stocks for Walters & Baker, with a keel of 24 feet.

Mr. T. Scott left for Troy last Tuesday to meet Mr. O. E. Hughes and family. Mrs. Brannell and family and Mrs. Hodgson and family were passengers.

Mr. H. E. Hall's team left for Troy last Tuesday and had the following gentlemen as passengers: Messrs. William Brown, John Hurd and Thos. Newett.

Despite the warm evening last Sunday the Presbyterian Church was crowded to overflowing when the Rev. Mr. McWilliams preached a most excellent sermon.

Mr. W. J. McLean, H. B. Co., Isle a Croise, who has been on duty to the Bog for some time past, arrived here two days ago, and is the guest of the Hon. L. Carke.

By last mail a batch of letters arrived here addressed to Lieut. Governor Dewdney, care of Mr. O. E. Hughes. They look as if his Honor intends to pay Prince Albert a visit.

A model Manitoba farm has been laid out by the C. P. R. at the Forestry Exhibition held in Edmonton, which was opened this month. Canada has sent exhibits of indigenous trees.

A good show of rain fell on Wednesday, making nature look fresh and glowing, while the happy look on the farmer's countenance, values which said: "Hope speaks to his heart, but beams o'er us."

Last week two brothers, William and Thomas, from the South Branch, were before Capt. Young, J. P., for an alleged assault upon Joseph Bear, with a loaded shot gun, whereby the said Joseph Bear was seriously injured. Mr. Elliot appeared on behalf of the prisoners, and his magistrate, after hearing evidence, committed them for trial, but being released.

Mr. Devlin, Chief Hudson Bay Factor at Prince Albert, yesterday had an interesting interview with the Deputy Minister of the Interior on business affecting the company which he represents. He says that at that point was very much more advanced when he left than it is here.

We congratulate the Mayor on his statement in the Company's service since his departure from Prince Albert.

At the court held on Tuesday last, Messrs. J. J. Campbell and W. F. Meyers sat on the bench, and W. L. Farnwell, of Stony Lake, Carlton, was brought upon a charge of larceny, being charged that when the prisoner married his present wife (Mrs. Mackenzie) last June, his first wife was then alive. Mr. Elliot for prosecution, and Mr. Meikle for defence. Evidence has been heard at length, the prisoner was remanded for eight days. But was released.

Mr. K's great pit had four narrow escapes this week of being destroyed by fire, the building having no less than three times on Monday, and once on Tuesday, caught fire from the sparks of the smoke stack of the saw mill. Fortunately they were all noticed in time, and through the energetic efforts of the workmen on the premises, were quickly extinguished. The loss of this, the only well known, would be felt very much by the inhabitants. The citizens surely ought to bealar themselves and secure better fire protection. A firm in Chicago seems to think we are in need of such protection for last mail a descriptive catalogue of the department supplies was forwarded addressed to the mayor, when calling their office attention to it, and we are now in the way of being brought to call upon the mayor, as he will be kind of it in the subject.

Moore & Macdonald's saw mill will commence cutting next week.

Several rafts of logs have arrived for Moore & Macdonald this week.

The district court, has been adjourned till the 3rd of September. See advt.

Mr. T. N. Campbell will leave for Winnipeg in a few days to meet his father.

Mr. W. S. Dunlop, with a large party of relatives arrived here last Wednesday morning.

It is estimated that the total average under crop in this District, this season, will be about 8,511.

Mrs. MacPherson and daughter, of Morley, Alberta, arrived here on Sunday last on a visit. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Swanson.

The Secretary of the "Incorporation Committee" received a letter from his honor, Lieut. Governor Dewdney, stating that the petition asking for the incorporation of this place as a town, has been held in abeyance till the next sitting of the N. W. Council. An open air meeting will be held on Saturday evening next at 7 o'clock, in front of the Farmers Home, to hear the report of the committee. All are invited to attend.

SLAVERY OF PROTECTION.

To the Editor of The Times.

Sir,—While the tariff is fast paid by the importer it is ultimately paid by the consumer. When it is levied for the purpose of government it is called a revenue tariff; when it is levied for the purpose of aiding individuals in business enterprises it is called a protective tariff. To the first, when laid fairly and without discrimination, I can offer no objection, but to the latter I am undoubtedly opposed. On what ground should the government interpose to help the business of the eastern citizen. If a man's business was profitable it did not need the protection of the government. If it were unprofitable, that was a good reason why he should not put his money into it, but no reason why he should compel his fellow citizens to pay two prices for the article to make good his losses. If we in the North West are compelled by legislation at Ottawa to pay $150 for what would otherwise cost $100, then the seller has been harmed with the taxing power of the government to take from us $50. I deny the right of the Government to surrender the taxing power and allow an individual to exercise it. When I earn wages they are my own and I have a right to spend it where I choose. If I can make a better bargain with an American than what I can with a Canadian I have a right to do so and the government has no right to interfere except in so far as the needs of its revenue are concerned. If a man by his labor in one day earns $1 it expresses all of that day to him. It represents his hopes, his fears, his toil and his anxiety. If with that dollar he goes to purchase what he wants from an American the government steps in with its power and says you must not buy from an American, you must buy from a Canadian. He goes to the Canadian, who says I charge you $2 for that article. He must go back to his toil and another day must go out of his life to get the additional $1. What does that transaction mean? It has been by the power of the law compelled to work for one day against his will for a Canadian manufacturer. All of his hopes, all of his toil for that day has been the nation's creature. In other words for one day he has become a slave. Every dollar of increase in the price of all goods which the protective tariff occasions is an hour of day of slavery. The whole case rests on this, that subject to the needs of the government every man has a right to sell where he gets the best price for what he produces, and buy where he can buy most cheaply. This is the approved doctrine of political economy and the plainest teaching of justice. It individualizes men, it lets them in their spirit of independence, it turns their eyes from the government to themselves, it fixes the boundary line between governmental power and personal rights, it limits the authority of public administration, it teaches men that there is no arm so strong for their support as their own and no business so successful as that which their ability and skill has built up, it limits the government within its proper sphere and leaves individuals free to choose their own course, develop their own resources and build up their own fortunes. What is the effect of this ruinous system on the farmers? It has increased the price of all articles which enters into his daily consumption, and this increase has amounted to a very large sum. For this there is absolutely no compensation in the protective system. The protective system is unable to help him. To the farmers of the Canadian North West the prospect before them is not encouraging, with granaries half full of the old crop unsold, with vast fields greening for the coming harvest, with crops unexcelled even by India, with a splendid promise amongst all the wheat growing nations, and grain almost unsalable, the result will be inevitable that the price of grain before next January will not pay for the cost of production. In that day farmers will be beggars in the midst of their own plenty, paupers by the side of their own golden gathered sheaves. There is absolutely no relief under the present system. If the government would give some reductions it would satisfy for the time the great agricultural interests of the North West, but if its protectors will not listen, will not accept a compromise, in less than a year the farmers will rise from the lethargy in which they are slumbering and an hour will overthrow the whole protective system. The effect of protection on labor are want, poverty and starvation. These are the jewels in its crown. The working man should cease to believe in the delusion that protection is a help to them. It came in the guise of a friend, but in reality is a most deadly hand is lifted in an attitude of benediction, but is really raised to curse. It will never permit labor to have the full share to which it is entitled of the profits of capital. From time immemorial it has been the custom that any section of people shall determine what is expedient and politic for it to do. Even if it has not the people of the east cannot prevent the consideration and discussion caused by the protective system. Neither the almonder nor the force of man can stay it. The agitation is already begun. The people long silent and quiet are moving now. The conflict cannot longer be delayed and then the result cannot be doubtful. Private extortion must yield to public rights, selfish interests must be sacrificed to the general good, and each individual manhood must be left free, unhindered and unaltered by the government to work out its own destiny. And in the glorious result of the struggle I am sure that this protective grant of robbery and extortion will disappear from our midst and the people of the North West nor darken our beautiful prairies with its shadow.

The return match of the above clubs was played on last Wednesday evening at the grounds of the Argyle Club. Play was retarded, owing to the rain, but some capital hitting and batting was shown. When the stumps were drawn, it was found that the fates had again decided against the Argyles, the score being 130 for the Mission and 45 for the Argyles.

THE HOUSEWIFE.

A meeting composed of French and English half-breeds, was held at Lindsay school house on Tuesday last; the object seemed to be for both parties to agree on a set of resolutions which have been passed at previous meetings, said resolutions embodying grievances complained of by said French and English half-breeds. The substance of resolutions being same as was agitated last winter, with the addition of two, viz., one protesting against the participation of the H. B. Co. in any land in the country and one in regard to sending a deputation to Louis Riel. Objection was made by the English half-breeds and after some sharp discussion, in which the chairman, Mr. Andrew Simpson, criticized the English side, in which he said it was his opinion that some of them thought themselves too wise—egregio—a set of fools. The whole thing was left to a committee, who after some time adopted all the resolutions as presented by the French. It seemed to be the mind of the meeting to invite Louis Riel into the country, instead of having to send out of it to consult him on matters concerning the people, for the transfer of Manitoba and the North West Territories into the Union. Wait the aim of all these meetings to verify for us to know, if any do, but as far as stated in the resolutions, it said well enough to set forth grievances of which not only the half-breeds but Canadians from Ontario as well join, one of the latter taking the lead in opening his case when subscriptions were called for, for defraying the expenses of delegates to Riel. The delegation is composed of four members of the committee: Messrs. Jas. Rossier and M. Dumas for the English, the French members have escaped the immunity of your correspondent. At the close of the meeting a collection was taken up for Mr. M. Dumas, who very unfortunately lost all he was worth in the world by being burned out by a prairie fire, not a single spout left, his wife and children barely escaped with their lives. A train of ponies and a yoke of oxen were near being roasted as they were tied to a wagon near the house.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

To the Editor of The Times.

SIR,—As you requested in a late issue your readers to send you items of news, allow me to state that our Agricultural Society is gradually getting into shape, thanks to kind contributions and advice. Of course this being the first of the kind in this District, we cannot have it perfect at once. A board has been elected, and the whole thing is started in a fair way to success. The executive are all farmers, which is said by the business community to be the proper thing, though the said executive would gladly resign in favor of the mercantile community taking that part, it being supposed by the farmers that the business community could attend to it better. Of course this is all talk at present, but in the near future, possibly about the first of June, it is their intention to hold a general meeting in Prince Albert with a view to that step. It is also the desire of the majority of the directors to make Prince Albert the central place or headquarters of the Society. The chief patron resides there, and though he did not dictate or suggest anything to that effect, still to make Prince Albert the centre the Society would benefit by more experienced advisers and help in different ways. For instance such men as the Hon. L. Clarke, Hon. Mr. Macdowall, Messrs. Swanson, Kennedy and Hughes and Col. Spratt, with other gentlemen, would perhaps kindly look on the success of the institution, either with funds or advice, for both are acceptable. We hear that other gentlemen are likely to interest themselves in it, but we are unfortunately not acquainted with them as yet. I may say here that the Hon. L. Clarke has taken the lead nobly with a subscription of $100 toward its fund and has been pleased to accept the office of patron. It is the wish of the Society for all friends to take an active part in the Society. The secretary wishes suggestions from any friends of such institutions, chiefly as to making Prince Albert the centre or headquarters. A kind offer has already been tendered the Society of accommodation in case the exhibition in the fall would be held at Prince Albert. The Society would also be grateful to any gentleman, not giving any stated sum, should they be kind enough to give special prizes for any particular exhibit. The by-laws will be printed as well as the prize list, and will appear in the local paper if they will kindly insert it.
